2016 CPC-CAPS Annual Upstate Population Workshop
Friday, October 28, 2016, 10:30am-3pm
A.D. White House, Cornell University

Call for Submissions: DUE 9/30/16

The Cornell Population Center (CPC) and the Center for Aging and Policy Studies (CAPS) at Syracuse University will host their Annual Upstate Population Workshop1 on October 28, 2016. This is an opportunity for population scholars in upstate New York to discuss common research interests and is open to all CPC and CAPS affiliates. We are seeking submissions to participate in working groups that will be held the morning of the workshop. Working groups will provide a forum for informal discussion of work-in-progress and common challenges and opportunities in data and computing. Please contact the organizers of the working group you would like to participate in.

Three working groups will be set up around discussions of work-in-progress (at the pre-publication stage). The purpose of the discussions is to familiarize colleagues with each other’s work and to identify possible areas of future collaborative research projects (see the accompanying RFP). To participate in one of these groups, send the organizers the title and brief description of a working paper you’d like to share with colleagues, e.g., this would be a great format for discussing extended PAA abstracts due just the day before. If you decide not to send a paper, please sign up to read and comment on a colleague’s paper:

1) Family, health and lifecourse—Rachel Dunifon (red26@cornell.edu) and Merril Silverstein (merrils@syr.edu)

2) Education, migration, inequality and public policy—Maria Fitzpatrick (mdf98@cornell.edu) and Len Lopoo (lmlopoo@maxwell.syr.edu)

3) Psychology and neuroscience—Elaine Wethington (ew20@cornell.edu) and Donna Korol (dlkorol@syr.edu)

A fourth working group will be organized around computing needs and resources, what we can learn from each other, and where there are areas for collaboration (e.g., restricted data access). Please contact the organizers and indicate your interest in joining this discussion:

1 In recent years this has been called the “Encore Conference.” We have changed the name, reflecting a new organizational approach and a broader institutional scope.
4) Data and computing—Matt Hall (mhall@cornell.edu), Gary Engelhardt (gvgelh@syr.edu), and Jessica Houston Su (jhsu2@buffalo.edu)

All affiliates are invited to attend the full day’s events on October 28. The tentative agenda is as follows:

10:30 Welcome & introductions
10:45-12 Working groups
12-1 Lunch
1-2:15 Invited panel (see below)
2:15-3 Reception, wrap-up, and posters

Invited panel showcasing the work of new and early-career affiliates, including:
Patrick Ishizuka, Frank H. T. Rhodes Postdoctoral Fellow, Cornell Population Center
Katherine Michelmore, Assistant Professor of Public Administration and International Affairs, Syracuse University
Douglas Miller, Professor of Policy Analysis and Management, Cornell University
Jennifer Montez, Assistant Professor of Sociology, Syracuse University
