EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

Administrator, Cornell University Federal Statistical Research Data Center \(at CISER\). An excellent opportunity is opening for doctoral students to work as the Administrator for the Cornell University Federal Statistical Research Data Center (FSRDC), Ithaca, NY. The FSRDC is a secure computing facility located in the Cornell Institute for Social and Economic Research (CISER) at Cornell University. The Administrator is a U.S. Census Bureau (federal government) employee who will work on site at the Cornell FSRDC and is crucial to the daily operation of the FSRDC. The person in this position will assist researchers from many disciplines, including economics, geography, health policy, sociology, and demography that are conducting research projects in the FSRDC. The candidate must have a Master's degree in economics, demography, sociology, or a related social science field; be currently enrolled as degree seeking student; and be a U.S. Citizen. Interested candidates should contact Bill Block, Executive Director of the Cornell FSRDC at block@cornell.edu, for more information.

Survey Research Methodologist, Pew Research Center. The Survey Research Methodologist will work with researchers across Pew Research Center, while also serving as the Center's primary liaison to The Pew Charitable Trusts on matters of polling and survey research. This individual will play a role in the development of survey projects on a wide variety of topics, and advise on best research practices at both Pew Research Center and The Pew Charitable Trusts. This position will operate as a member of the Pew Research Center's Methodology team and will report to the Director of Survey Research. This position requires substantial knowledge and skill in survey methodology as well as significant project management skills. Open until filled.

Cornell University

Senior Policy Analyst/Policy Analyst, Population Reference Bureau \(PRB\). The Population Reference Bureau (PRB) seeks either a Senior Policy Analyst or Policy Analyst depending upon the level of experience and background to contribute to PRB's population health and environment work in Africa and to manage specific PHE activities as part of the IDEA project. Serves as an activity leader for USAID activities with the Africa PHE Network and the HoPE LVB project, working closely with the Associate Vice President for Population, Health, and Environment to develop annual work plans and ensure timely completion of activities. PhD in demography, reproductive health, and environment. Open until filled.

Open Rank Professor of Global Health, Emory University. The Hubert Department of Global Health, Rollins School of Public Health of Emory University, Atlanta, Georgia seeks application for a tenure track faculty appointment with a focus on one or more of the following areas: sexual and reproductive health, maternal and child health, sexuality and health, gender and health or HIV/AIDS. Candidates should have a strong background in public health, anthropology, demography, epidemiology, socio-medical sciences, psychology, sociology, or political science. Candidates must have extensive experience in applying or teaching quantitative and/or qualitative research methodologies. Candidates with expertise in field research or in developing and testing interventions among vulnerable populations are encouraged to apply. Appointment may be made at the academic rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor. Open until filled.

Research Scientist, Child Trends. Child Trends has an opening for a Research Scientist in its Reproductive Health and Family Formation research area. This person will be responsible for conducting qualitative or quantitative research projects primarily on healthy marriage, fatherhood, and related family well-being in collaboration with senior staff members. Research studies in this area place special emphasis on racial/ethnic minorities, in particular Latinos, and low-income families. PhD Demography or Family Sociology, ideally with expertise in fatherhood or healthy marriage. Open until filled.

Postdoctoral Scholar/Research Associate, Sol Price School of Public Policy, University of Southern California. The fellowship allows scholars to contribute to the literature in social innovation and social policy, sharpen their analytical skills, and advance their research agendas in the field through formal and informal training and extensive collaboration with distinguished researchers. The postdoctoral scholar will help design a common data platform for powering social change in Southern California, evaluate innovative efforts, and develop grant proposals for external funding. The applicant should have strong empirical skills and training in program evaluation. We are looking for scholars from relevant disciplines such as economics, public policy, health policy, statistics, medicine, or other quantitative social science disciplines; experience working with large data sets (e.g., American Community Survey, Panel Study of Income Dynamics, American Housing Survey). Open until filled.

Senior Forecasting Analyst, State of Washington. This immediate opening is for a population projection and estimate analyst with applied experience in state and local demography. The ideal candidate will have experience using advanced demographic techniques to develop data bases, models, and independently conduct research to support statutorily required estimates and forecasts. The Population Unit operation focuses on team work and cross training. This position will be part of certain team(s) that produces a variety of estimates and forecasts with the emphasis on OFM's April 1 official population estimates, state and county total population and characteristics forecasts, as well as small area population estimates and small area demographic estimates. The ideal candidate will have SAS and /or GIS skills and be able to lead and participate in coding complex demographic models. Open until filled.

Cornell University

CORNELL POPULATION CENTER

Open Rank Professor of Sociology/Demography at ENSAE-CREST. ENSAE ParisTech and CREST: offers students proficient training in quantitative analysis of information, statistical modeling and social sciences. Currently located in Malakoff (92), ENSAE ParisTech and its research center, CREST, will move in a few years to the new campus in Palaiseau, on the campus of Ecole Polytechnique, to form with their partners (Ecole Polytechnique, HEC, Telecom ParisTech, ENS Cachan, etc.) a leading educational and research center in applied mathematics, statistics, economics, sociology, finance and management. The successful candidate is expected to demonstrate, besides a solid international and general knowledge in sociology/demography, a practice of quantitative methods, familiarity with international comparisons, and an outstanding international-level publication record and potential. Deadline: May 10, 2015.

Postdoctoral Researcher in Life Course and Family Dynamics, University of Oxford. The Department seeks an enthusiastic researcher to work with research group of an ESRC-supported project called Life Course and Family Dynamics in a Comparative Perspective. This offers an exciting opportunity to work on a cross-national study involving partners from China, the Netherlands and Germany as well as the UK. The appointed person will compare the dynamics of changes over the life course at four key stages: (1) child development and schooling; (2) the transition to adulthood; (3) security, insecurity and well-being in midlife; and (4) intergenerational support in later life. The research focus of the UK team is part 3, midlife security, insecurity and well-being. In addition, an equally important aim of the project is the creation of a harmonised, documented longitudinal dataset for the four countries. Deadline: May 14, 2015.

\(2\) Visiting Scholar Programs, Institute for Research on Poverty. Program 1: The Institute for Research on Poverty (IRP) invites applications from U.S.-based social science scholars from underrepresented racial and ethnic groups to visit IRP, interact with its faculty in residence, and become acquainted with the staff and resources of the Institute. The invitation extends (but is not restricted) to those who are in the early years of their academic careers. Program 2: The Institute for Research on Poverty (IRP) invites applications from U.S.-based food assistance scholars to visit the IRP RIDGE Center for National Food and Nutrition Assistance Research for one week during the 2015 to 2016 academic year, interact with its faculty in residence, and become acquainted with the staff and resources of the Institute. Deadline: May 15, 2015.

Postdoctoral Research Officer in Sociology and Social Policy, University of Oxford. The successful candidate will work as a member of a team investigating educational inequalities in Britain from the 1950s to the present. The project will use data from large-scale longitudinal social surveys, such as the British Birth Cohort Studies, the Longitudinal Study of Young People in England (LSYPE) and the Avon Study of Parents and Children (ALSPAC), and will apply advanced methods of quantitative data analysis. This is a fixed-term full-time post for 24 months to work on the project funded by the Nuffield Foundation. The post is available from 1 July 2015. Doctorate in Sociology, Social Policy, Social Statistics or some related area. Application deadline: May 29, 2015.

Post-Doctoral Fellow/Research Scientist, Max Planck Institute for Demographic Research. The Max Planck Research Group Gender Gaps in Health and Survival at the Max Planck Institute for Demographic Research (MPIDR) is seeking to make an appointment at Post-Doctoral Fellow or Research Scientist level. The group intends to investigate how universal the male – female health – survival paradox is across different countries and which biological, demographic, and social factors drive the male – female health – survival paradox. The research interests of the group also embrace health trends in the old-aged populations, cohort differences in health at older ages and related topics. Applicants should have completed a PhD in epidemiology/public health, demography, statistics or related fields. All applicants should have a keen interest in health and mortality and strong quantitative skills and experience in applied data analysis. Application deadline: May 31, 2015.

Open Rank, Professor of Economics, Texas A&M University. The Department of Economics is seeking to fill one position at the rank of Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, or Full Professor, depending upon funding, in the field of Applied Microeconomics. Categories/specialties: health; education; welfare; labor; demographic econ; urban; rural; and regional econ. All positions require a Ph.D. in economics or related field. Candidates for appointment at the Associate Professor or Full Professor levels must have a demonstrated record of scholarly achievement appropriate for the rank. In addition to a distinguished record of high quality published research, candidates should demonstrate an interest in advising doctoral students. Candidates for appointment at the advanced Assistant position must have at least two years of experience after receiving their Ph.D. and demonstrate promise to publish high-quality research in leading journals. Deadline: June 1, 2015.

Postdoctoral Research Associate, Princeton University. The group of Johannes Haushofer in the Department of Psychology and the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University is seeking applications for one or more positions at the level of postdoctoral or more senior research associate (Job #1500260). We are interested in understanding the relationship between poverty, psychology, and economic choice, and conduct lab and field experiments in both developing and developed countries, using approaches from psychology and economics. Initial appointment is for one year with possibility for renewal pending satisfactory performance and funding availability. PhD in economics, psychology, neuroscience, or related field. Deadline: December 30, 2015.

CPC STUDENT OPPORTUNITIES

Demography Minor. The CPC offers a campus-wide minor in Demography that is open to PhD students in all social science graduate fields.
