Please contact Anneliese Truame to make an appointment.

CORNELL POPULATION CENTER

NICHD/NIH, Population Dynamics Branch \(PDB\). The PDB (formerly the Demographic and Behavioral Sciences Branch) supports research and research training in demography, reproductive health, and population health. Ongoing FOAs.

NIA/NIH, Division of Behavioral and Social Research \(BSR\). The Division of Behavioral and Social Research (BSR) supports social, behavioral, and economic research and research training on the processes of aging at both the individual and societal level. Ongoing FOAs.

EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

Associate Professor or Professor of International Health, Johns Hopkins University. We are looking for an experienced applied social scientist to join the Social and Behavioral Sciences faculty in the Department of International Health, the largest and most renowned department of its kind. The need is for a highly experienced applied psychologist, sociologist, economist, anthropologist or public health researcher with skills and experience in both qualitative and quantitative methods. The candidate should have experience in advising and mentoring doctoral students and junior faculty. Open until filled.

Computer Software Associate, Population Division at the NYC Department of City Planning. The Population Division is responsible for the compilation, analysis and dissemination of census and related federal, state, and local data for city agencies, local communities, and the media. Within the Department, the Population Division provides data for a variety of local and citywide planning studies, environmental review analyses, and capital planning strategies. It also provides other city agencies with data to address questions of concern involving needs assessment, program planning and targeting, and policy formulation. This position involves working with data from a variety of sources and requires an ability to work accurately with numerical data. Application deadline: May 30, 2014.

Research Associates, Institute for the Study of Labor \(IZA\). The Institute for the Study of Labor (IZA) is an international research center associated with the University of Bonn producing independent academic research of the highest quality standards. IZA has a special emphasis on, but is not restricted to, policy-relevant labor market topics and has openings for Research Associates starting in fall 2014 (or earlier). Associates will join the core research staff in Bonn. Successful candidates are expected to publish their research in top peer-reviewed journals and contribute to the intellectual environment of IZA. The ideal candidate is a recent Ph.D. (or close to completion) with excellent knowledge of econometrics and applied and policy-oriented labor issues. The appointment is for up to 6 years, initially for 3 years, with possibility of renewal for another 3 years. Application deadline: May 31, 2014.

Lecturer in Health and Society, University of Texas at Austin. The College of Liberal Arts at the University of Texas at Austin seeks applications for a Lecturer position in Health and Society to begin in Fall 2014. The successful candidate will play a central role in developing a new undergraduate interdisciplinary Health and Society major. Applicants should have a terminal degree in a health-related field, such as health policy, public policy, public health, sociology, anthropology, or psychology. Open until filled, but review of applications will begin June 2, 2014.

Research Methodologist, UMass Amherst. The Institute for Social Science Research (ISSR) at the University of Massachusetts Amherst is seeking applicants for qualified candidates to serve as our Research Methodologist. The primary job responsibilities are developing and leading programs to support methodological skills and tools for social scientists. The Research Methodologist is expected to conduct innovative social science research, provide direct research and methodological advising to other researchers at UMass-Amherst, offer periodic instructional workshops on topics of broad interest to social science researchers, and manage and supervise a small team of graduate research consultants. The Research Methodologist will also work closely with the ISSR Director and staff to help design new initiatives to advance the service and research mission of the Institute. Qualified applicants must have a doctoral degree in a social science discipline such as sociology, political science, economics, and psychology, or related fields like public policy or public health. Application deadline: June 13, 2014.

2014-15 Visiting Scholars: Institute for Research on Poverty, University of Wisconsin-Madison. The Institute for Research on Poverty has released calls for applications for two funded visiting scholar programs during the 2014-15 academic year; the first targets U.S.-based researchers from underrepresented racial and ethnic groups, and the second targets food assistance researchers. Application deadline: June 16, 2014

Assistant Professor, Laboratoire de Sociologie Quantitative \(LSQ\). ENSAE ParisTech and CREST are looking to recruit a tenure-track Assistant Professor at the Laboratoire de Sociologie Quantitative (LSQ), starting in the fall of 2014. Applicants should have, or be close to obtaining, a PhD in sociology. The successful candidate will be expected to demonstrate a promise of excellence in research employing advanced quantitative methods and a good teaching potential. Ability to converse regularly and freely in French is required. Application deadline: June 16, 2014.

Lectureship in Sociology/Social Research Methods, University of Cambridge \(UK\). The Department of Sociology is seeking to appoint a University Lectureship in Sociology / Social Research Methods. Candidates should have a PhD in sociology or a related social science discipline, with a strong quantitative component. The successful candidate will have the capacity to teach quantitative research methods at both undergraduate and postgraduate levels; the majority of teaching will be delivered in the University's Social Science Research Methods Centre (SSRMC), which is located within the Sociology Department, and which provides training in basic and advanced research methods to postgraduate students from departments from social science and other departments across the University. Application deadline: June 17, 2014.

Data Science Researcher, Queens College \(CUNY\). Queens College seeks an established or emerging researcher in the area of data science with significant research experience in applying and developing data science to address problems arising in the fields of population, demography, economics, linguistics, sociology, or other areas. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate, master's level, and Ph.D. level courses and engage in research. This will enhance and build the program in data science in cooperation with Computer Science and the program in Applied Social Research currently based in the Sociology department. Application deadline: June 29, 2014.

Economist, CFACT, Division of Social and Economic Research, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. The Center for Financing, Access and Cost Trends anticipates one or more position openings for Ph.D. economists interested in conducting research on the U.S. health care system. The successful applicant(s) will join a team of interdisciplinary researchers generating policy-relevant publications in economics, health policy and health services research journals. Individuals will also contribute to the analytical design of the Medical Expenditure Panel Survey (MEPS), a series of large surveys of households, employers and providers. Application deadline: July 15, 2014.

Post-Doctoral Researcher, Department of Sociology, Tilburg University \(Netherlands\). The post-doctoral research forms part of the research project HOWCOME: Changing Housing Regimes and Trends in Social and Economic Inequality, which is financed by the European Research Council (ERC). The research project aims to study the interplay between two major social trends of the post-war period: the upward trend in economic inequality and long-term changes in housing regimes. September 1, 2014.
