EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

Director Enrollment & Planning Services, Seattle Public Schools. The Director will supervise the work of the Enrollment Planning and Enrollment Services departments to ensure efficient operations in all aspects of student assignment, including both short- and long-term planning for enrollment projections, program placement, and facilities needs. Provide leadership and staff support to Superintendent and Assistant Superintendent, Capital, Facilities, and Enrollment in strategic work of the district, including development and implementation of the New Student Assignment Plan. Collaborate with multiple central office departments impacted by student enrollment. PhD preferred in planning, policy analysis, educational leadership, or related field. Open until filled.

Assistant Commissioner of Housing Policy Analysis and Research, NYC Department of Housing Preservation. HPD's Office of Policy and External Affairs seeks a qualified candidate (Job # 141099) to lead the Division of Housing Policy Analysis and Statistical Research (DHPASR). DHPASR plans and conducts major housing-related research requiring advanced concepts and methods and/or large-scale data collection, processing, and analyses, primarily for the legally required New York City Housing and Vacancy Survey (HVS). The candidate should have a PhD in economics, and/or a social and political science discipline with 10 years of experience conducting major research projects requiring advanced concepts and methods or large-scale data collection, processing and analyses. Open until filled.

Administrator, New York Research Data Center. The New York Research Data Center (NYCRDC) seeks an Administrator with a PhD and an empirical research background. The NYCRDC is located at Baruch College in New York City. The NYCRDC provides researchers with the opportunity to engage in approved projects that use the restricted-access microdata collected by the U.S. Census Bureau, the National Center for Health Statistics, and the Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality. The RDC Administrator will assist researchers from many disciplines including economics, sociology, demography, geography, political science, and medicine. Knowledge of social science research methodology is required. Open until filled.

Assistant/Associate Professor of Non-communicable Diseases and Global Health, Harvard School of Public Health. The Department of Global Health and Population at the Harvard School of Public Health seeks candidates for the position of tenure-track Assistant or Associate Professor of Non-communicable Diseases (NCDs) and Global Health. The department seeks candidates to expand its research on NCDs such as cancer, cardiovascular disease, stroke, mental illness or diabetes, in a global health context. The successful candidate will be expected to develop a program of field research in low and middle income countries. The candidate will also play a central role in the department's teaching programs. Overseas travel for fieldwork is envisaged. Candidates will hold a doctoral degree in epidemiology, demography, economics, public policy, global health, or related disciplines, with a demonstrated expertise and interest in conducting quantitative studies and mixed methods. Prior field research experience in Africa or Asia is highly desirable. Open until filled.

Economist, CFACT, Division of Social and Economic Research, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. The Center for Financing, Access and Cost Trends anticipates one or more position openings for Ph.D. economists interested in conducting research on the U.S. health care system. The successful applicant(s) will join a team of interdisciplinary researchers generating policy-relevant publications in economics, health policy and health services research journals. Individuals will also contribute to the analytical design of the Medical Expenditure Panel Survey (MEPS), a series of large surveys of households, employers and providers. Application deadline: July 15, 2014.

CORNELL POPULATION CENTER

Group Leader, Max Planck Institute for Demographic Research. The Max Planck Institute for Demographic Research seeks a path-breaking recent Ph.D. eager to develop a highly innovative Max Planck Research Group at a frontier of mathematical, biological, historical, social, economic or qualitative demography. The successful candidate will be given ample resources to establish and direct an independent research program. For this purpose, he or she will be guaranteed funding to recruit and lead a team of researchers, for operating expenses, scientific collaborators, and technical and secretarial support. The successful candidate will start a five-year contract (with the possibility of a prolongation after positive evaluation) between October and December 2014. The payment corresponds to the W2 level on the German university scale, equivalent to an Assistant or Associate Professor. Applicants should have completed a doctoral degree in the past decade. Application deadline: July 25, 2014.

Associate Director for Science, Office of Analysis and Epidemiology, National Center for Health Statistics. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's (CDC) National Center for Health Statistics (NCHS), Office of Analysis and Epidemiology (OAE) is seeking an Associate Director for Science to serve as senior advisor on crosscutting research and dissemination activities. This fellowship is open to all citizens of the United States or legal permanent residents with a work authorization. Applicants must have successfully completed a doctoral degree in health services research, statistics, survey methods, epidemiology, pharmacy, economics, or a related social science or health field. Strong analytical, writing, and interpersonal skills are required. Direct experience in design and/or analysis of complex surveys, especially NCHS surveys, is highly desirable. Experience using SAS, STATA, SUDAAN, or other statistical software for complex survey data is expected. Application deadline: July 31, 2014.
